

FORAKER MAD AT STATEMENT

Says That Brown's Statement Is Dictatorial And Difficult To Make A Polite Answer To.

BROWN SAID OHIO WAS FOR TAFT

Foraker Calls It False And Entirely Misleading Of The True Situation---Trouble Is Brewing In The Fight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—Chairman Walter F. Brown of the Ohio republican state central committee has stirred Senator Foraker to speech and decided wrath. Mr. Brown's statement that has stirred up a hornet's nest was made yesterday in Toledo. He said:

"The Taft sentiment in Ohio is so strong that if it is further opposed or in any way misrepresented by Senators Foraker or Dick it will burst all bounds and demand expression in a popular convention. There is not, to my knowledge, a republican leader whose prominence is acknowledged throughout Ohio who favors any candidate for the presidency except Secretary Taft. There are eighty-eight counties in this state. I have direct information from the leading politicians in three-fourths of them, and every man is for Taft. I have not as exact information from the remaining counties, but I know that they, too, are for Taft. There is, of course, a number of men in various parts of the state indebted to Senators Foraker and Dick for benefits received. Some of these are, as is natural, a little noisy in behalf of the senators, but even among them there is not, in my opinion, any feeling for any presidential candidate but Taft. What is much more important, however, is the fact that the people of Ohio are overwhelmingly in favor of Taft. There is not the slightest doubt of this, and anybody who does not know it, is ignorant of the real political conditions in Ohio."

Senators Foraker has issued a spirited rejoinder to this statement by Chairman Brown. The senator says it "is difficult to make a polite answer" to a part of Brown's statement, declaring that "for rank, dictatorial, offensive, bossism, it far exceeds anything I can recall." It gives definite notice that he not only resents Brown's dictation, but that his choice for the presidency will be named by the next convention of Ohio republicans and that he will abide by that choice.

RICH WOMAN CHARGED WITH TORTURING GIRL TO DEATH

Terrible End Of Sixteen-Year-Old Domestic Laid At Door Of Sioux Falls Brewer's Spouse

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 18.—The case of Mrs. Emma Kaufmann, wife of a rich brewer of this city, charged with the murder of Miss Agnes Poirets, her 16-year-old domestic, will be taken up for trial in the state circuit court here next week. Since a week or two after her arrest last June Mrs. Kaufmann has been at liberty on bonds of $25,000. The best obtainable legal talent in the entire northwest has been engaged to defend the accused woman and the trial undoubtedly will be among the most notable in the history of the judiciary of South Dakota.

The girl whom Mrs. Kaufmann is alleged to have killed, Agnes Poirets, was a Bohemian and could speak but little English. She died in terrible agony at a local hospital early last year, a few months after taking employment as a maid in the Kaufmann household. Her body was interred at Parkton, S. D., the home of her parents.

It was but a short time until ugly rumors regarding the manner of the girl's death were circulated. The remains were exhumed and according to the statements of the physician the body was a mass of bruised and scalded flesh, covered with gashes and scars. Through the testimony of other servants of the Kaufmann household, who told tales of almost nihilistic brutality, the wife of the millionaire brewer was placed under arrest, charged with having caused the death of the girl.

At the preliminary hearing the coachman declared that he had seen Mrs. Kaufmann knock Agnes Poirets down, and that many times he had witnessed the girl on her knees pleading pitifully for mercy while her mistress was beating her. Shortly before the girl was sent to the hospital, suffering from the injuries which caused her death, the coachman testified that he was called to the house of his mistress, where he found the maid lying on the floor in a pool of water, which he believed had been hot. The coachman was told by Mrs. Kaufmann to carry the girl to her room. Shortly afterward he said Mrs. Kaufmann followed him with a solution containing a strong admixture of lye and instructed the coachman to bathe the girl's feet and legs with it, saying that it would take the soreness out.

Other nihilistic acts, alleged to be true, were related by other witnesses and Mrs. Kaufmann was bound over and placed in the custody of the sheriff. It is rumored that the attorneys for the accused woman will enter a plea of insanity. The statements of former servants in the Kaufmann household sustain this view to some extent. The death of Mrs. Kaufmann's only daughter is said to have caused a temporary derangement from which the woman never entirely recovered. Many witnesses stated that they had often seen Mrs. Kaufmann sitting before a life sized portrait of her dead daughter, staring at it moodily for a time and then bursting forth into blasphemous curses against God for bereaving her. After these spells, it is said, she would be seized with fits of anger in which she was cruel and vindictive against all young girls who came in her way.

DECLINES TO SERVE ON THAT COMMITTEE

Sensation Caused on Dr. Wills, Jr., Declining to Serve on Temperance Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Columbus, O., May 18.—Dr. David Wills, Jr., of Oswego, N. Y., today declined to serve as chairman of a committee on temperance at the Presbyterian general assembly. His resignation created a sensation and there promises to be a bitter fight over the report on temperance. Dr. Wills says he will not participate in the fight.

When the assembly convened Moderator Roberts announced the appointment of Rev. Henry Dodker of Louisville as chairman of the temperance committee. The assembly adopted the reports on the ministerial relief and presbyterian brotherhood, and an adjournment was taken until Monday.

UNITED STATES HAS LARGEST DELEGATION

Thousands Sunday School Workers Representing Thirty Million People, at Rome.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, May 18.—One thousand delegates, representing thirty million people throughout the world, were present today at the opening of the fifth World's Sunday School convention. The representation of the United States is larger than that of any other country. Foremost among the Americans in attendance are John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, Bishop J. D. Haskell and President Edward K. Warren of the American Sunday School association. Canada likewise is represented, as well as England, the Scandinavian countries, China, Japan, Australia, the West Indies, Africa and India. The Rev. F. B. Meyer of London will lead the first service tomorrow morning, and this will be followed by a number of communion services, the delegates of each denomination meeting in their respective churches. In the afternoon the convention services will be preached by the Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan of London. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to the convention services, with morning conferences in English, French, German and Italian. The afternoons and evenings will be given to addresses on important subjects by Bishop Hartnell of Africa, Bishop William of Switzerland, Rev. Dr. C. R. Blackall of Philadelphia, Charles Waters of England, Marlon Lawrence of Ohio, and others of prominence. The closing service will be held Thursday evening, with addresses on the significance and influence of the convention. The final address will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. John Potts of Toronto.

AMERICANS WILL STUDY EMIGRATION IN EUROPE

Commissioners Go To Learn Causes For Exports—Are To Visit Many Countries.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., May 18.—Among the passengers on the steamer Canopic sailing for Naples today were several members of the immigration commission appointed by President Roosevelt, Vice President Fairbanks and Speaker Cannon to investigate all the phases of the problem of immigration. The party consists of Senator Dillingham of Vermont, chairman of the commission; Senator Latimer of Alabama, and Mr. Wheeler of California. The commissioners are accompanied by clerks and stenographers, the entire party numbering about twenty persons.

The commissioners will remain abroad about three months, during which time they will get in communication with all diplomatic and consular agencies of the United States in all those countries from which settlers come to the United States. The most important posts of embarkation of emigrants will be visited. It is the intention of the commission to go more thoroughly into the subject than it has ever been gone into before and to obtain, so far as may be possible, all facts at first hand.

They will begin their labors in Italy, and when they get through they will probably know the character at home of Italians who come to America, the methods by which they are gathered up and sent here, and especially will they undertake to find out whether any of these emigrants are selected for exportation because of their undesirable character at home.

From Italy as the season progresses, and as the warm summer months make labor in the warm countries undesirable, the commissioners will proceed to Spain, France, Germany and Russia, and finally to America.

FAY TEMPLETON LEAVES STAGE FOR PRIVATE LIFE

To Enjoy Existence As Wife Of Pittsburgh Millionaire, After Career Of Success On The Stage.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, May 18.—Word of Fay Templeton's retirement from the stage was passed along Broadway today and at the matinee performance at the Grand Opera House almost a ton of flowers was passed over the footlights to the inimitable comedienne who has amused American playgoers these many years. Tonight, it is positively announced, Miss Templeton makes her final bow to the public, and that she will be given a splendid farewell goes without saying.

The reasons which usually bring about the retirement of women of the stage do not hold good in the case of Miss Templeton. She can well afford to laugh at the unkind fortune which has bestowed upon her a superabundance of avoidipos and removed certain of the graces and charms which once made her the queen of comic opera. Miss Templeton retires in the height of her success to enjoy life as the wife of a Pittsburgh millionaire, William Patterson, by name, to whom she was wedded last August.

It seems not so many years ago, but by actual count it is a good many, that Fay capered nimbly in "Evangeline" or earlier still in the "Mascot" and "Olivette" to the delight of the chappies who thronged the shower applause and roses upon her. Old-timers on Broadway remember her well in the pretentious production of Ed Rice, with its lone fisherman and Dixie as the hind legs of the heifer. They remember the pretty soubrette with her shapely form and winning ways and all around charms of manner and appearance who reigned as a time as the idol of the Johnnies. It was Fay Templeton, the same little girl who away back in 1878 or perhaps earlier started out in her father's theater in St. Joseph, Mo., as a child wonder. She had appeared in many pieces in juvenile parts, but it was not until about 1878 that an angel came to the front to back an operatic troupe with Fay Templeton as the star. Her parents too were in the cast, but they contented themselves with humble parts and meager lines and gave pretty Fay the centre of the stage and all the curtain entrances.

The Shattered Will. Then Mrs. Osborn died, leaving her immense fortune and a peculiar will. She gave her son Howell $400,000 in trust and an additional $300,000 which he could do with as he saw fit except that it could not be willed to the issue of any wife who had sung, acted or danced professionally on the stage for hire. This, of course, was aimed at Fay. In 1895 Howell Osborn died and by his will left Fay $100,000. The instrument was attacked in court by other members of his family, who held that he had been improperly influenced by Mrs. Osborn's will precluded that disposition of his money. The matter was fought out in the courts for several years and Fay finally won. But her victory did not avail her much, for upon final settlement it was found that Osborn's estate amounted to less than $10,000.

Fay took to the stage again and as one of the stars of the Weber & Fields company she achieved new triumphs. At the Twenty-ninth street music hall her imitations of Irene Vanbrugh, Ethel Barrymore, Annie Russell and other well-known actresses were all of them wonders in their way, and had she been contented to remain with the company it is possible that the Weber & Fields partnership might not have been dissolved. But she decided to leave, only to score again in "The Runaways" and later in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." Last August she made her third matrimonial venture, when she became the wife of William Patterson, a wealthy Pittsburg manufacturer of elevator and conveying apparatus.

Maries "Billy" West. In time she married and she chose from the ranks of her own profession. The lucky man envied of all the chappies for a brief moment was William West, the minstrel, but for some inexplicable reason the union was a failure. They lived together just one day and then they went their separate ways and later West secured a divorce.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

One often wonders what to attribute success to. One wonders why this man or that has succeeded, had made a name for himself in the annals of his tory, when others have failed. Charles Holt, the veteran Illinois newspaperman, once editor and owner of the Gazette, wrote of Ross, the Kansas Senator, whose vote saved the union from the disgrace of impeaching President Andrew Johnson.If anyone had told us that Ross when he worked in the Gazette office in the Fifties would have been a United States Senator we would have laughed. There were four or five fellows in the office who would have been picked before him.

Dr. Thomas Green professes to have a maxim that carries weight. He heads his little sermon, "Scrubbin' Did It." It is pithy and interesting.

It may sound just a bit platitudinous to say that one never knows what is going to happen. It is a bit more thoughtful to say that one never knows where or when an ideal is going to materialize. I mean something from which one may gain, by dint of the least bit of reflection, an inspiration.

It goes without saying that the most of us rush along the strenuous ways of our profession, more concerned for the sordid mechanism by which railroad schedules co-ordinate with the current calendar, than for much idealizing of passing things. We are much like him of whom it was said that "The yellow primrose by the brim, A yellow primrose was to him, And nothing more."

It is the mark of real genius—the hall stamp on him on whom the gods have smiled, that he • • • Finds tongues in trees, Books in the running brooks, Sermons in stones, and Good in everything."

But you do occasionally catch a vision, you do once in a while find an inspiration, in the most unexpected of places.

I think I am not entirely indifferent to the voices that call from the heart of beauty or sound from the soul of grandeur as we find them now and then in the pilgrimage of this world. I am quite sure that I can thrill as many thrills as any one when I stand amid the Gothic arches of the pines, uplifting their long lung naves beneath the amethystine dome bespread and frescoed stars over a pavement tiled in emerald, mosaiced with a tangled arabesque of flowers. I know that I can feel the puniness of many's pretense, when on some beetling crag, mid earth ribs, upward thrust, I gaze upon the eternal innocence of snows like vestal virgins that never sin because they never feel the kiss of hot temptation.

Yes, I have gained inspiration from all of these, but I found a lasting lesson today—where do you imagine?

At Wahoo, Nebraska!

Wahoo, they tell me it means "bad Indian," tho' you could fancy nothing bad, not to say savage, in the little town lying so quietly in the peaceful environs of its courtfoelds; and, as if to make the contrast greater, between name and fact, the large proportion of the people here and hereabouts are German and Bohemian—the most quiet, home-making and home-loving of all the alien lines that blend into the complex resultant of our American life. Wahoo! I opened the course there, giving my lecture to an attentive and thoughtful audience as one might hope to meet; rested, un vexed, in comfort at a well-kept inn, where every kindness was shown me, and in the early morning said goodbye and started on my way. My bags had gone on the wagon—I chose to walk the half-mile through the snappy frosty October morning.

I turned onto the platform and approached the depot. Just a plan, ordinary Chicago & North-Western depot—one sees them every day. I opened the door of the waiting room to buy my ticket—and what! Where was I?

Before me a floor that actually shone in snowy whiteness; a stove polished to the last degree of brilliancy, with straight, black stovepipe reaching to the flue; the windows fleckless, and each with a neat, cheap, but tidy, Holland shade—all drawn to the same exact level; on the walls a medley of railway scenes of advertising pictures, but all neatly framed and hung, not without artistic consistency; a water cooler with a clean granite cup; in one window a tank of goldfish, in another some neatly potted plants; along one wall a convenient rack filled with timetables of various roads and magazines for tedious waits. Where was I?

"Ah!" I said, "this is the ladies' waiting room. Some tidy woman is thinking of her traveling sisterhood. I belong to the other end. There I'll find the familiar, oft-repeated, muddy floor, the stinking spit-boxes, the grimy windows, the rusty stove, the scattered ashes—all the nasty squalor and the disease-breeding filth of the usual country depot."

Reluctantly I crossed to the other side. Could it be so? A clean, wholesome room, with well swept floor, polished stove, pictured walls, shaded windows; on one side a home-made desk, with ink well, pens, some company paper and envelopes. Visions of Utopia began to shape themselves. But I had little time to dream—I had to have a ticket. I went to the window. A big man with a strong, clear face made out my ticket.

"How do you do it?" I said wonderingly.

"Scrubbin,'" said he briefly, "there's a heap of virtue in soap and water when they're properly laid on."

"Can you keep it so?" I said doubtfully.

"Sure!" said he. "Things ought to be always clean, and I notice that even when dirty folks come in where it's clean, it makes them more careful."

And just then I had visible proof, for a big man who was "eatin' tobacco," suddenly turned to the right, then to the left, then got up and went out on the platform, and shut the door behind him before he spat.

I looked back at Wahoo—before we turned—the curve. There was the depot—just a common North-Western depot—but as I said, one never knows what one is going to find. I had found a lesson.

Station agent at Wahoo is not a remarkably exalted position, and yet my unknown, unnamed friend had made it blossom. Everything ought to blossom, and he had taken the most habitually ugly and untidy thing on earth—a country depot—and made you remember it for its cleanliness and order.

Cui bono? Well, why does the poet sing, the artist paint, the preacher exhort, the reformer labor, if not to rid this world of ugliness, of discord, of uncleanness—to preach God's evangel of beauty?

Ask a more practical, characteristically twentieth-century question: What does he get for it all?

Nothing! save as you count your own satisfaction. That's generally the way in this world.

You remember Browning's "Herve' Riel," who "saved the king his ships," and was then told to "name his own reward."

He laughed—did Herve' Riel—he had not done it for reward. But when they pressed him he said:

"Since it's ask and have I may, Come a whole half-holiday—Leave to go and see my wife, Whom I call 'La Belle Aurore.' This he asked and this he got.

Nothing more.

Gordon Bennett's Little Reform

Tacoma Ledger: James Gordon Benetti, editor, has ordered the New York Herald to use the word "steamship" when referring to "passengers leaving for Europe and other points by steamship, instead of "sailed." Other papers are referring to the Herald as "our scuttled contemporary."

May Be, But Can't See It

Fond du Lac Reporter: Goldwin Smith, the Canadian publicist, thinks rotation in office is one of the weak spots in our government. Maybe it is, but all the world can see that our method has produced the richest and most powerful nation on the face of the earth. That's all the proof we need that it is all right.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Return Personal Bryan's Commoner: "Dollars are only dross," says Mr. Carnegie. You dirty boy!

They'll Never, Never Change Chicago Tribune: So long as Mr. Bryan lives, however, there will be persons who will view him with alarm.

Object Lesson for Shysters Boston Herald: Good riddance to Abe Hummel for a year. His fate should serve as a warning to shyster lawyers everywhere.

In Modest Home of Corey Milwaukee Sentinel: Among the humors of the season is the report that Pittsburg is shocked at unclad figures in a picture in the Carnegie Institute art rooms.

The Jeering Begins New York Commercial: The candidacy of William Theodore Roosevelt Tait has received a slow-wm signal from Harmony station, Ohio, to avoid a collision with Mr. Foraker's automobile.

What Caused the Trouble Milwaukee Sentinel: "When was their engagement made?" "While they were singing in the church choir."

"What was the cause of their divorce?" "Singing in the church choir."

Standpatters Racine Journal: A report is current that Vice President Fairbanks and Uncle Joe Cannon are not objectionable to the easterners, as it is said they are all right on the tariff proposition of standpatters.

A Guy Who Says "Fudge!" Kansas City Journal: John L. Sullivan's definition of a molly-coddle—a guy who says "fudge" when he ought to be sending right and left to the jaw—is unnecessarily prolix. A guy who says "fudge" would be sufficient.

Northern Tobacco Belt Freezer Oshkosh Northwestern: Up at Oconto they are telling of a farmer who froze his ears this week while trying to sow some oats. Of course it sounds pretty strong, yet with the frosty nights and mornings we have recently had no one will dare dispute it.

Beneficent Labor. Labor rigs us of three great evils—idleness, vice and poverty. French proverb.

Clinton Young Man Fell Between Cars and the Platform. Narrowly Escaping Death.

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Clinton, May 17.—Fred Conry came very nearly meeting with a frightful accident yesterday. He wanted to catch the 11:16 train to Janeville but was late and the train was under way by the time he reached it. He tried to jump on while the train was in motion and was thrown down between the cars and one foot rested against the rail. The next car came so close to knocking him in the head that it hit his hat. If it had not been for Operator Bradley, who was standing close by and who called to Conry to "get down until the train passed," he might have been killed. Mr. Conry was on his way to Janeville to see his brother, who is at the Mercy Hospital in that city.

Mr. J. R. Switzer is on the sick list. Stoney Bros. are preparing to erect a cottage on the assembly grounds at Delavan Lake.

O. J. Woodward, J. F. Kemmerer, H. W. Conley and O. Hördern returned last evening from Dodgeville, where they, in company with gentlemen from Walworth, Wis., and Chicago, have been inspecting the Plumbe mine which they own near Dodgeville. The Clinton men returned steaming high, wide and fancy and feeling very jubilant over the outlook as they have a good strike of "Jack" and lead.

About a mile of cement walk is to be laid here this summer. The following men have already put in walks this spring: C. P. Drake 2-places, O. Derr, Chas. Lee, D. Shmitt and D. M. Phillips.

Prof. Merica's lectures here yesterday afternoon and evening as one of the talent of the Good Templar chautauqua, were pronounced very fine indeed and a packed house greeted him in the evening to hear him give his famous address, "Why the Boy Went Wrong." It was one of the best lectures ever heard in Clinton.

Dr. Mary Montgomery and sister, Mrs. Waller, have returned from their winter's sojourn in Florida. The ladies like Florida climate and the flowers, but object very strongly to the native population.

H. A. Moehlenpah, our genial cashier of the Citizen's Bank, has been taking a very needed rest after a very strenuous spring. He spent ten days in the wilds of the northern part of the state fishing.

WILLIAM ZUILL'S NEW RESIDENCE WILL BE OF BRICK, AND COST $4,500

Walls to be Double and Interior Will Be Burrowed. Providing Two Dead Air Spaces.

Architect William H. Blair has completed plans for William Zuill's new residence on Jefferson Avenue. The building will measure 35x41 and be two stories high, containing nine rooms and a bath. The foundation will be of stone and the superstructure of sand lime brick. The walls are to be double and the interior portion will be burrowed, making two dead air spaces—one between the two brick walls and the other between the brick and the plastering. Air spaces assure dryness and prevent the penetration of heat and cold. The estimated cost of the house is $4,500.

OBITUARY.

William D. Davey. Many friends of the late William D. Davey paid tribute to his memory this afternoon, when funeral services over his remains were held from the Baptist church parlor at two o'clock. Rev. R. C. Denison officiated and railroad men with whom the deceased had worked acted as pallbearers—Edward Predeaux, D. P. Davey, A. Hill, Maurice McCarthy, Bert Stevens, James Sellinger. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Hulda Carpenter. Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Hulda Carpenter will be held from the European hotel at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Engineer Will Speak: Anthony Wilkinson, an engineer on the St. Paul road, will be the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. inc. meeting at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A good musical program has been arranged and all men are cordially invited to be present to enjoy the session.

County Board Meeting: County Clerk Howard Lee will on Monday send out notices calling upon the county board of supervisors to assemble here for the May meeting on Monday, the 27th, at 2 p. m. Ex-Chairman F. L. Livermore, who is with his wife at Mt. Clemens, Mich., will probably be numbered among the absences.

F. & A. M.: Special communication Janesville Lodge No. 55, F. & A. M., at Masonic Temple next Monday evening at 7:30, with F. C. work.

Meet Beloit White Sox: The Janesville Athletics will play ball at Yost's park tomorrow, crossing bats with the Beloit White Sox. Next week the local aggregation will meet the Atton Tigers.

Return to Janesville: Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Waddell, who have been residing at Montgomery, Ala., in hopes of benefiting Mrs. Waddell's health, have returned to Janesville to make their home.

Deal Closed Today: The deal for the transfer of the Parker Pen block on South Main street was closed today, Attorney T. S. Nolan purchasing at a figure not made public.

Making Canoe: Three members of the Wisconsin University faculty, J. C. Potter, instructor in electricity, George Cousins, instructor of history, and Dr. Bradley, professor of physiological chemistry, departed in canoes from Madison at an early hour this morning and expect to arrive here about five this evening. Mr. Potter, who is a nephew of S. B. Lewis of this city, made the same trip last year but consumed two days in the journey.

Professor to Preach: A. W. Tretter of Carroll college, Waukesha, will occupy the Presbyterian church pulpit tomorrow morning.

Buy it in Janesville.

O. J. Woodward, J. F. Kemmerer, H. W. Conley and O. Hördern returned last evening from Dodgeville, where they, in company with gentlemen from Walworth, Wis., and Chicago, have been inspecting the Plumbe mine which they own near Dodgeville. The Clinton men returned steaming high, wide and fancy and feeling very jubilant over the outlook as they have a good strike of "Jack" and lead.

About a mile of cement walk is to be laid here this summer. The following men have already put in walks this spring: C. P. Drake 2-places, O. Derr, Chas. Lee, D. Shmitt and D. M. Phillips.

Prof. Merica's lectures here yesterday afternoon and evening as one of the talent of the Good Templar chautauqua, were pronounced very fine indeed and a packed house greeted him in the evening to hear him give his famous address, "Why the Boy Went Wrong." It was one of the best lectures ever heard in Clinton.

Dr. Mary Montgomery and sister, Mrs. Waller, have returned from their winter's sojourn in Florida. The ladies like Florida climate and the flowers, but object very strongly to the native population.

H. A. Moehlenpah, our genial cashier of the Citizen's Bank, has been taking a very needed rest after a very strenuous spring. He spent ten days in the wilds of the northern part of the state fishing.

WILLIAM ZUILL'S NEW RESIDENCE WILL BE OF BRICK, AND COST $4,500

Walls to be Double and Interior Will Be Burrowed. Providing Two Dead Air Spaces.

Architect William H. Blair has completed plans for William Zuill's new residence on Jefferson Avenue. The building will measure 35x41 and be two stories high, containing nine rooms and a bath. The foundation will be of stone and the superstructure of sand lime brick. The walls are to be double and the interior portion will be burrowed, making two dead air spaces—one between the two brick walls and the other between the brick and the plastering. Air spaces assure dryness and prevent the penetration of heat and cold. The estimated cost of the house is $4,500.

OBITUARY.

William D. Davey. Many friends of the late William D. Davey paid tribute to his memory this afternoon, when funeral services over his remains were held from the Baptist church parlor at two o'clock. Rev. R. C. Denison officiated and railroad men with whom the deceased had worked acted as pallbearers—Edward Predeaux, D. P. Davey, A. Hill, Maurice McCarthy, Bert Stevens, James Sellinger. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Hulda Carpenter. Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Hulda Carpenter will be held from the European hotel at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Engineer Will Speak: Anthony Wilkinson, an engineer on the St. Paul road, will be the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. inc. meeting at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A good musical program has been arranged and all men are cordially invited to be present to enjoy the session.

County Board Meeting: County Clerk Howard Lee will on Monday send out notices calling upon the county board of supervisors to assemble here for the May meeting on Monday, the 27th, at 2 p. m. Ex-Chairman F. L. Livermore, who is with his wife at Mt. Clemens, Mich., will probably be numbered among the absences.

F. & A. M.: Special communication Janesville Lodge No. 55, F. & A. M., at Masonic Temple next Monday evening at 7:30, with F. C. work.

Meet Beloit White Sox: The Janesville Athletics will play ball at Yost's park tomorrow, crossing bats with the Beloit White Sox. Next week the local aggregation will meet the Atton Tigers.

Return to Janesville: Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Waddell, who have been residing at Montgomery, Ala., in hopes of benefiting Mrs. Waddell's health, have returned to Janesville to make their home.

Deal Closed Today: The deal for the transfer of the Parker Pen block on South Main street was closed today, Attorney T. S. Nolan purchasing at a figure not made public.

Making Canoe: Three members of the Wisconsin University faculty, J. C. Potter, instructor in electricity, George Cousins, instructor of history, and Dr. Bradley, professor of physiological chemistry, departed in canoes from Madison at an early hour this morning and expect to arrive here about five this evening. Mr. Potter, who is a nephew of S. B. Lewis of this city, made the same trip last year but consumed two days in the journey.

Professor to Preach: A. W. Tretter of Carroll college, Waukesha, will occupy the Presbyterian church pulpit tomorrow morning.

[Special to THE GAZETTE.]

Evanston, May 17.—Fred Ellis received a dispatch this afternoon bringing him the sad intelligence of the death of his brother, Henry H. Ellis, which occurred at his home in Cheyenne, Wyoming, Wednesday, May 15. Mr. Ellis was one of the early settlers of Rock county and a former businessman of Janesville. He was located on South Main street for a number of years and will be remembered by many of the older residents. He left Janesville more than thirty years ago and went directly to Cheyenne, where he was a highly respected businessman. He was born in England seventy years ago and came with his parents to Wisconsin when only a child. Mr. Ellis had been in failing health for about two years and last fall an operation was performed which failed to benefit him. There are left to grieve for their loss a wife, one son—Lemuel, and one daughter—Mrs. Gertrude Gilmore, all of Cheyenne, besides one sister—Mrs. Mary Jordon of Evansville, and two brothers—Fred Ellis, also of this city, and Thomas Ellis of Jefferson, Iowa. A wide circle of friends sympathize deeply with the sorrowing relatives.

Paul Ames has been confined to the house the past week as the result of injuries received from being thrown off his horse. He was thrown off his headfirst and the horse stepped on him in such a way as to rupture some of the blood vessels of his leg. He is gaining and the attending physician thinks he will be able to be out again next week.

William Hesel has sold his restaurant to George Ewing of Mendota, Ill., who will take possession next Monday. The building is being generally repaired for the new owner. The A. H. Sholtz Debating lyceum will give its last program of the year Tuesday evening, May 21. The program will consist of vocal and piano solos, a speech by Prof. A. H. Sholtz, an illustrated lecture by E. Winters, and L. Bullard and talks by C. F. Fish and E. Bourne, and a farewell address by L. H. Bullard.

Vaughn Partridge, who has been quite ill for several days, is better and resumed his duties in the Pioneer drugstore this morning.

Ward Stevens of Beloit was in the city the first of the week, visiting relatives and friends.

Perry Wilder, Grant Howard, Forrest Dunver and Earl Potter will give a dancing party to a number of their friends in Magee's opera-house this evening.

Mrs. E. C. Fish has been the guest of relatives and friends in Chicago this week.

S. D. Burke of Madison is a business caller in Evansville today.

H. S. Vaughan of Platteville is transacting business here.

F. B. Hyland and R. D. McCook of Stoughton were in the city last evening.

How to Build "Buster Boys"

You can't build sturdy boys and girls out of white flour bread or pastry. The ideal food for growing children is because it contains all the muscle-making, bone-building, brain-making material in the whole wheat, prepared in a digestible form. A breakfast of Shredded Wheat Biscuit will supply all the energy needed for study or play.

For breakfast heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness, pour hot milk over it, add a little cream and a little salt; or, sweeten to taste. Shredded Wheat is also delicious and wholesome for any meal in combination with fresh or preserved fruits. At your grocers.
